Baby Proofing

Now that your baby is starting to move around, it is time to think about making his environment safer....injuries become more common than illnesses- you CAN do things to protect him.

You may find many tips online for what you need to do around the house. Babycenter.com, Parents.com, and AAP.org all have suggestions. Most products can be found at Target, Babies"r"Us, and even Home Depot.

A professional consultation is certainly worth the fee, around $50. They will go through your home and give you advice on all the things you COULD do to make your home safer for your now mobile baby.

You may then choose to hire them to safety-proof your entire house, or just the items you choose, or you can do it all yourself.
